COUNCIL OF DEFENSE CALLS ATTENTION TO VAGRANT LAW

Mr. Arthur B. Hancock, of Paris, County Chairman of the Council of Defense, has received the following letter from the headquarters of the State Council of Defense, at Louisville, calling attention to the enforcement of the vagrancy law, which was enacted at the last session of the Legislature. The letter follows:

"Louisville, Ky., June 4, 1918.
"Mr. A. B. Hancock, County Chairman Bourbon County Council of Defense:

"At the last meeting the Kentucky Council of Defense instructed me to call your attention to the Vagrancy Law, passed by the Kentucky Legislature at its last session, and to request you to urge your County Attorney to enforce this law, which makes it a crime for 'any able-bodied male resident of this State, between the ages of sixteen and sixty, except bona fide students during school term' to fail or refuse 'to regularly and steadily engage for, at least, thirty-six hours per week in some lawful and recognized business, profession, occupation, or employment, whereby he may contribute to the support of himself, and those legally dependent upon him,' and prescribes severe penalty for the offense thus created.

"Please see your County Attorney at once, and urge him to have this law enforced. The published acts of the Legislature of the last session will be issued within a few days, and through them the County Attorney will have access to the Vagrancy Law. Give such publicity to this law as you think wise.

"EDWARD W. HINES,
"Chairman Kentucky Council of Defense.

NINETY-SIX YOUNG MEN REGISTERED HERE WEDNESDAY.

Under the provisions of the order of Provost-Marshal General Crowder requiring the registration of all young men who have attained their legal majority since June 5, 1917, ninety-six young men of Paris and Bourbon County registered at the office of County Clerk Pearce Paton, in the court house Wednesday.

The work of registration was carried on under the auspices of the Bourbon County Board of Exemption, composed of Chairman C. A. McMillan, Dr. Silas Evans and County Clerk Paton. The registration was a very quiet and orderly affair, the young men appreciating the gravity of the situation, and the importance of the step they were taking. Those who registered were for the greater part residents of the city, with a scattering number from the country.

While the act of Congress requires the young men who registered Wednesday to be placed at the bottom of the class to which they are assigned many of them will soon be called to the colors, as the requisition upon the Governors will exhaust the first class in some States. Registration days for men becoming twenty-one years of age will be probably held every three months hereafter.

Farley, Edgar Tingle and Perry McCord.

IN THE SERVICE OF THEIR COUNTRY.

Sergt. Z. E. Harrison, arrived from Camp Zachary Taylor, near Louisville, Thursday night. Sergt. Harrison came from military scenes in order to sing the refrain, "The girl I left behind me," which he did at a certain home on Main street.

Lieut. Robert Jones, who has been in France for some time, is a guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jones, in North Middletown. Lieut. Jones has been sent to America for a special course of training in the Officers' Training School.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. W. Davis have received a postcard from their son, Mr. Jo Davis, Jr., from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, near Chicago, stating that he had arrived there safely, was in good health, and liked the place to well that he had concluded to remain a while.

First Lieut. Milton J. Stern, of Paris, who has been stationed at Camp Wadsworth, near Spartansburg, South Carolina, has been assigned to service on the eye and ear board of examiners for the Second Pioneer Infantry at the Camp. These examiners have been detailed for special duty for the examination of all incoming draft troops arriving at the depot for corps and army troops.

Lieut. Jay Petree, of Cincinnati, is a guest of his aunt, Dr. Martha Petree, at her home on Vine street. Lieut. Petree is a member of the United States Army Aviation Corps, and is stationed at Kelly Field, in Texas. Dr. Petree now has three nephews in the aviation service, one in France, and two in Texas.

Mrs. Davis Hutchcraft, who is visiting at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Perry Hutchcraft, in East Paris, received a telegram from her husband, stating that he had just received his commission as Lieutenant, and would probably be transferred to Ft. Pike, near Little Rock, Ark.

Capt. William Collins, who has been a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Collins, at North Middletown, has returned to Camp Taylor. Capt. Collins was accompanied by his guests, Maj. Gerfen, of Pennsylvania; Capt. Brown, of Rhode Island; Capt. Lane and Schaffer, of Indiana, and Lieut. Heich, of Louisville.

A letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Buchanan, of Paris, from their son, Clarence Buchanan, states that he had been promoted from the position of stenographer for Co. B, 149th Infantry, at Camp Shelby, to that of stenographer at the regimental headquarters of the 149th. Young Buchanan was in the employ of the Power Grocery Co., at Paris, before enlisting in the army.

Among the recent enlistments made here by Recruiting Officer Sharp, who has headquarters at the Windsor Hotel, are Nathan Bayless, Jr., who has been assigned to the Veterinary Division of the service at Ft. Thomas; Wm. H. Galbraith, Ora L. Honican and Jennings Brewsbaugh, of Paris, who have been placed in the infantry service at the same post.

Corporal Teddy Shannon, of Paris, a former attache of the Paris Democrat, has arrived home on a furlough visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Shannon, in this city. Corporal Shannon was transferred from Camp Zachary Taylor to the aviation service at Camp Bowie, near Ft. Worth, Texas, and later to the aviation camp near Omaha, Nebraska.

A letter from Mr. Landen Templin, formerly of Paris, who went to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station a few weeks ago says, in part: "We are located on the lake, and are six miles from the Great Lakes Training Station. I think we will get up there Sunday on an inspection trip. I have only been here two days, but I like it better every minute. The grub is fine. Certainly would like to see THE NEWS."

Lieut. Percy A. Thompson, who is stationed at Camp Custer, near Detroit, Mich., accompanied by Mrs. Thompson, is here for a short visit to friends. Their two children, Martha Thompson and James Thompson, stopped over in Covington for a visit to their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson. Lieut. Thompson is in the pink of condition, and received a warm welcome from his old friends in Paris.

Among the young men who registered in Lexington, Wednesday, under the requirements of the new law were June Peddicord, son of Mrs. John Arkle, of Paris, Charles E. Plank, who formerly resided in Paris, where he was in charge of a loan agency, and Joseph E. Bonfield, who was for a long time local agent for the Bluegrass Traction Co. in this city, and Wayne Cottingham, formerly of Paris, now on the staff of the Lexington Herald.

Mr. Stanley S. Dickson, son of Mrs. Allie Dickson, of North Middletown, graduated at Princeton University on May 27, completing the post-graduate course, and receiving the degree of Master of Arts. On May 28 Mr. Dickson enlisted in the navy, and went to Newport, R. I., where he entered the Naval Reserve. He will not be twenty-one years old for several months yet. Mr. Dickson graduated last June from Centre College, at Danville, getting a Bachelor of Arts degree. From there he went to Princeton.

Following the address of Capt. R. E. Blackerby at the meeting of the Bourbon County Medical Society, when he asked for physician volunteers in the army service Drs. J. T. Brown and J. A. Orr, of Paris, arose and signified their willingness and readiness to enlist. They were immediately examined and their applications forwarded to Surgeon-General Gorgas, at Washington. Dr. Roher, of Berry, also volunteered at the same time and place, and his examination and application papers were also forwarded. When their papers are fully approved they will be inducted into the service as active members of the Army Medical Reserve Corps.

A letter from W. O. Pennington, one of the Bourbon county boys in the United States Navy, stationed on the Atlantic coast, says, in part:

"I have just received the first copy of THE NEWS since last November. It certainly was appreciated. I think I have read about everything in it. I assure you that there isn't a Bourbon county boy in the navy that would be better satisfied with a paper than they are with THE NEWS."

"I was in an Atlantic port last Saturday, and while there saw young Welch, of the Mississippi. He is in perfect health and is as large as anybody. Welch is a nephew of Mr. John Chism, of Paris. I am going to try to make a visit to Ben Leach and Carl Mitchell this week, as I have not had a chance to see them yet. Ed Doty and me are together once or twice every month. He is about the only Bourbon county boy that I get to see often, and we are getting to be old-timers on our ships now. If the time passes in the future as quickly as it has in the last fifteen months we will be good enough to catch two or three Kaisers. Well, there goes the call to mess, and that means something to me, so good bye for this time."

Writing from Chester, Pa., where he is stationed in the shipbuilding branch of the service, Kimbrough Duval, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Duval, who left Paris some time ago as a volunteer, says, in part:

"Are the boys still leaving good old Paris? I guess we have a very good job here now, one that will hold us for a while, but honest, we like it fine. There are only 300 of us here, but there is another bunch here in Chester, some place, John A. McNamara, George Leslie and I are the only Bourbon county boys here. The others are over in the other camp. The people here are very kind to us, and send us something every day. We are all under quarantine and will be for ten days. Some of the boys are a little homesick, but they are getting over it now, as we are having a fine time in camp. I was surely glad to get into a camp in the northeast instead of the south. We go as recruits to the regular army, instead of the National army. I don't know how long we will be here, as we may leave for another camp at any time. A drafted man from Winchester, whose name I will not give, refused to put on a uniform at Ft. Thomas. I think he will get about ten years in a Federal prison. All the boys now seem very well satisfied. I know I am. The Red Cross people came out this afternoon with cigarettes and things. I will certainly be glad when this quarantine is declared off, for I want to take a look at the old town. Just heard the mess call and you know that is where I shine, for they certainly do feed you good out here. Will send you my permanent address soon. At present I am with the Sun Shipbuilding Co., at Chester."

Jack Turney writes from Camp Zachary Taylor to THE NEWS, at follows: "Am just twenty-eight years old to-day and the Mayor of Louisville has ordered all business houses, except the saloons closed, in honor of the event, so why should I worry. If I can register here I will surely vote for him. The officers here at the Camp are also very considerate and complimented me on my birthday by letting me eat as usual, after they did. How the tip goes out that this was the big handicap I don't know, but such is life. Fielding Rogers has gone to the Officers' Training Camp for something bigger, but as I am now getting a dollar a day, guess I'll stick around the Camp for a while. We have been issued shoes that would make Ike Duffy's look like triple 9's. A fellow doesn't know where he is going, but just follows his shoes. No wonder leather is so high and scarce, for it's all down here. Tell Oscar Hinton I was out on the golf links this morning, but I carried a gun instead of the regulation golf clubs. Some of the boys, seeing the holes, asked permission to get a drink. Just overheard a conversation between two 'rookies' in which one of them told of a lonesome wife running off with another man because her husband was here in Camp Taylor. By way of consoling him the other 'rookie' said: 'Hell, that ain't no worse than mine. She left me before I was drafted.' To show how game the boys are, he swears he will have her back after the war. The lesson of duty is very strongly fastened in their hearts. Hope you are all well and happy. My new address is Private Andrew Jackson Turney, 4th Section, 34th Company, 9th Battalion, Depot Brigade, Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky."

BOURBON OIL & DEVELOPMENT COMPANY—ITS ORGANIZATION AND PROGRESS.

This Company was organized less than eleven months ago and has made wonderful progress since its organization. It has grown from a small wildcat company with only 5,000 acres of leases in then unproven fields to a substantial producing company, with an estimated production of 300 barrels daily ready to put upon the market as soon as pipe lines can be laid, and in addition 33,000 acres of carefully selected leases, a greater part of which are in proven fields.

ELLIOTT COUNTY.

What "Industrial & Mining Age," New York City, has to say about Bourbon holdings in Elliott county:

"The field manager of the Rice Oil and Appalachian Oil Companies telegraphed on Thursday that a well making 50 barrels a day had been brought in by the Bourbon Oil & Development Company in Elliott county."

On this lease alone there is room for 300 such wells, which would give the Bourbon Company several hundred barrels of production daily, returning to the stockholders big dividends on their investment.

"The Bourbon acreage is on the western slope of the Anticline," and also lies on the top of the dome, as well as sides.

"Both the Rice and Bourbon Oil wells are located high up on the anticline and it is precedent that within the limits of the pool. As drilling goes down on the flanks of the anticline the size of the wells increase."

"The Bourbon discovery is simply another stride in the progress of the development operations begun by the Rice Oil Co. to prove up the strength of whose findings the Rice Oil Co. became an argonaut in the Elliott county field. These geologists have said that there occurs in Elliott county the biggest oil structure that has yet been found in the whole State of Kentucky."

"A 50 barrel well in the Berea sand is figured to be equal to a 250 barrel well in the other producing sands in Kentucky. It may be expected to run for decades with only a small decrease in production, and is valued at about $200,000."

"The Bourbon Oil & Development Co. may now also be relied on to institute an aggressive drilling campaign to develop production."

PAINT CREEK DOME.

This company has about 2,500 acres in Johnson, Lawrence, Morgan and Magoffin counties on what is known as the famous "Paint Creek Dome," and where the Federal Oil Co., P. J. White, Karl K. Dresser and others are operating, and developing a very promising field. The Central Kentucky Natural Gas Co. runs directly through this acreage and the company has agreed to take all gas

FORMER PARIS MAN RECOVERING FROM BURNS.

Mr. T. Clarence Erringer, formerly of Paris, who was so severely burned by an explosion of gasoline on his fruit ranche near Fillmore, Calif., that his life was despaired of, is now on the road to recovery. A postcard from Mr. Erringer states he is "somewhat disfigured, but still in the ring." The Los Angeles, Calif., Examiner, says:

"A remarkable instance of the success attained by the medical profession in treating severe burns, is shown in the case of T. C. Erringer, a rancher of Piru. He was discharged from the Pacific Hospital here ten days after he had lost, from burns on the arms, legs and body, a surface skin covering 84 square inches. Erringer was burned several weeks ago while attempting to fire some brush on his ranch, using gasoline. Physicians of his vicinity declared his case hopeless. The new 'perriessene' (paraffine) treatment was administered by Dr. Earl Sweet. Not a scar is expected to remain. Erringer is at the Rosslyn Hotel, convalescing."

Mr. Erringer's many friends in Paris will be highly gratified to learn of his progress toward recovery, and they hope it will be steady and permanent.

produced. This property alone will be worth millions of dollars when developed.

ESTILL AND LEE.

The Company now has about 250 barrels of production daily in Lee and Estill counties ready to put upon the market as soon as pipe line connections can be made. The holdings of the company consists of about 200 acres in the Ross Creek field and about 250 acres in the Miller's Creek field, and about 150 acres on Big Sinking and Eastern part of Lee county. The company also has several thousand acres of other leases, a great deal of which is near drilling wells. The company brought in a 100 barrel well on Ross Creek, Friday.
